About US

Global Trade. Delivered.

Buraq Holding is the parent company of a diversified international group with operations spanning Asia, Africa, and the Americas. Through its subsidiaries and affiliated companies, the Group provides integrated commercial solutions in import and export, strategic sourcing and procurement, distribution, and general trading across diverse sectors and global markets.

With a strong network of suppliers and logistics partners, we ensure smooth trade flows—covering product sourcing, export documentation, container planning, and flexible delivery terms. Our role is to simplify global trade so our partners can stay focused on their markets.

We operate not just as a supplier, but as a trusted business enabler—committed to delivering efficient, practical, and scalable trade solutions.

Global Presence. Local Insight.

We operate across key markets with strategic coverage in the Middle East, Africa, Europe, and Asia. Through strong partnerships with suppliers and distributors, we ensure product availability and responsive logistics tailored to each region.

Our global reach is backed by local insight—allowing us to act quickly and adapt our approach to match market-specific needs.

Partnerships Built for Growth.

We manage global trade with structure—from sourcing and negotiation to documentation, shipment planning, and compliance. Every step is handled to ensure reliable and timely execution.

As strategic partners, we collaborate with clients to navigate market complexity, refine sourcing strategies, and unlock growth opportunities.

Our goal is to deliver solutions that create value and long-term impact—not just transactions.

All Food Products

From everyday staples to specialized regional goods, our food export portfolio meets the needs of wholesalers, distributors, and international buyers across sectors.

We supply grains, legumes, flours, dairy products, vegetable oils, canned foods, sauces, frozen items, dry groceries, beverages, and more—sourced with care from trusted producers worldwide.

Product availability aligns with international demand and seasonality, and we handle everything with the reliability and efficiency that global food trade requires. Whether you're looking to restock, diversify your range, or tap into a new category, we make sourcing seamless—so you can focus on serving your market.

Raw Materials for Plastic Industries

Plastic manufacturing demands precision—and that begins with choosing the right raw materials. We supply base polymers, technical compounds, and industry-standard blends suited for applications such as injection molding, extrusion, thermoforming, and more.

From virgin granules to recycled formulations and performance-grade additives, we deliver the materials your production depends on—sourced responsibly and delivered with the consistency required to keep operations moving.

We understand how critical input quality is to downstream results, and we treat every shipment as part of your long-term production flow—not just a one-off transaction.

Oil Products

The oil trade requires balance between quality, availability, and regulatory compliance. We supply refined and semi-refined oil products used across multiple industries—including automotive, manufacturing, energy, and logistics.

From engine and industrial lubricants to base oils, greases, and paraffin derivatives, every product is selected to meet regional standards and technical demands.

We work with dependable sources that understand the dynamics of international trade and support uninterrupted supply, even in changing market conditions. With a structured export process and broad market experience, we deliver with consistency across volumes, destinations, and timelines.

Vehicle Spare Parts

Across global markets, the demand for consistent and compatible spare parts is growing—not only in scale, but in complexity. Navigating that demand takes more than a product list; it takes access to the right parts, aligned with the right standards, from dependable sources.

We provide a comprehensive selection of spare parts for commercial and passenger vehicles, including engine components, filters, electrical units, belts, and suspension systems.

Each shipment is coordinated with attention to detail—ensuring your supply aligns with the technical and logistical expectations of your market.

With streamlined logistics and export experience, BURAQ HOLDING helps clients maintain inventory efficiency and reduce downtime—delivering spare parts that keep fleets moving reliably.

House Appliances

As consumer expectations rise across global markets, demand for well-made, dependable appliances continues to expand. Retailers, distributors, and supply networks all need consistent access to household equipment that performs reliably, fits local specifications, and is ready for immediate use.

Our product offering includes a wide selection of electrical appliances for daily living—ranging from fans, kettles, and water dispensers to blenders, cookers, air coolers, and small-scale electronics. Each item is sourced from established manufacturers with a reputation for quality and compliance.

We support different technical standards, including voltage variations and common certifications, to ensure readiness for your market. Whether you operate in mass retail or targeted resale, we help you maintain the flow of trusted appliances—delivered efficiently and aligned with what customers expect today.

Furniture

Supplying furniture across markets requires more than availability—it takes coordination, visibility, and a consistent flow that supports commercial continuity. We provide clients with structured access to essential furniture lines that meet the ongoing needs of both residential and contract distribution.

Our range includes sofas, beds, chairs, tables, storage units, and other core categories—sourced through stable suppliers and delivered with direct oversight. Whether you're replenishing inventory or building a new sourcing path, we help you move with confidence and in sync with your market.

We deliver furniture supply that fits your market rhythm—reliable, adaptable, and always within reach.

Raw & Ore Metals

In the industrial supply chain, raw metals are more than materials—they're the backbone of entire production ecosystems. Whether required in bulk, by grade, or by form, access to the right metals is key to meeting operational targets.

We support this need with direct sourcing of base metals and raw ore, including steel, aluminum, copper, and other core materials used across manufacturing and infrastructure sectors.

With knowledge of regional demand cycles and regulatory logistics, we help clients secure dependable supply lines that hold under pressure.

Raw Industrial Chemicals

In chemical sourcing, precision is non-negotiable. Whether it's for manufacturing, processing, or technical use, consistency, compliance, and proper handling are essential to maintaining operational integrity.

We work with established suppliers to provide access to a wide range of industrial-grade chemicals—from base materials to specialty compounds—delivered under structured, well-documented procedures.

The challenges of global chemical trade—transport regulations, regional import controls, and product classification—are all accounted for at every step. Each order is managed with care and full compliance, helping clients secure a steady supply with the efficiency their operations demand.

Custom Product Solutions

Not every business runs on a fixed supply list. Markets shift, product needs evolve, and sometimes what you require isn't part of the usual offering—and that's exactly where we come in.

We help clients source specific products based on individual requests, brand preferences, or regional demands—whether it's something niche, multi-sourced, or simply hard to find. We don't ask you to adjust to what's available; we adjust our sourcing to what you need.

Through a flexible global network and responsive logistics, we handle the complexity on your behalf—so you don't have to chase suppliers, compare offers, or worry about availability.

You tell us what your trade requires—we'll take it from there.

Here, markets gain direction, and borders unlock opportunity. BURAQ HOLDING orchestrates trade with precision smart, seamless, global.
